Class of 2017

September 1, 2016

Dear Parents of the Class of 2017:

Congratulations on arriving at the final year of your child's public school education. This is a pivotal and special time in your life as well as that of your child. As the Class of 2017 advisors, we are committed to ensuring that your child has a successful year, and that you are able to help them navigate through all the activities and events that will culminate into a graduation exercise that will be unforgettable!

Let's begin with the Class of 2017 Senior Expectations. In order to graduate, the following must be completed: 75 service learning hours, completion of 21 course credit hours in the correct required classes and the passing the high school assessment test (HSA) for Biology, English 10 and Algebra.

Along with the requirements for graduation, seniors in the class of 2017 should adhere to all BCPS and Milford Mill Academy codes of conduct and attendance policies. It is important to come to school and do the right things to move to new heights. Any senior that does not meet the graduation standards or violates the codes of conduct will not be permitted to participate in senior activities. So parents, it is imperative that you make sure your senior is here in school, on time and meeting with success in order to graduate with their in June 2017.

In addition, we intend to keep you and your graduating senior informed throughout the year of meetings, activities, opportunities, information sessions, and events designed especially for our seniors. We have a packed agenda for this year. The best way to stay informed and to have a voice in plans is to attend all Senior Class meetings. Besides the class meetings, we have several other avenues for students to access class information. There is a message board in the cafeteria, the Senior Bulletin Board in the front lobby of Milford Mill Academy, daily announcements throughout the day, the class social media sites and, of course, the class officers and advisors.

Parents, together we can make this year the special milestone every student deserves. Feel free to contact me by email whenever you have questions, suggestions, or concerns. We welcome your input to achieve our common goal--Graduation day of the Milford Mill Academy Class of 2017.

Sincerely,

Ms. L. Clark
